

Bow Junction

Bow Junction is a trio based in Concord, New Hampshire, and delivers a diverse blend of bluegrass and folk, with a touch of Celtic and gospel.

Our self-titled CD was released in 2007 to great acclaim, with one review proclaiming: "Outstanding, soaring, and uplifting - Don't miss this CD!"

CD produced by Atta Girl Records entitled Green Measures: Artists for the Environment. All proceeds from the sale of the CD are used to fund environmentally-beneficial projects for local non-profits. This is what CD Baby had to say: "We hear hundreds of albums every day and we love your 'Green Measures: Artists for the Environment' ... Here is a fine collection of music in various styles from some generous artists with big hearts." Green Measures and our self-titled CD may be ordered through our Bow Junction website or from us at our concerts. CDs are just $10, including shipping and handling.

Linda Magoon, Mandolin & Skydiving

Russ Aubertin plays rock-solid rhythm and lead guitar. "Mando-Linda" Magoon provides the spark and drive on the mandolin.

Russ Aubertin, Flat Picker, Vocalist and Mountain Biker

Randy Hencke, Bass and Backup Vocals

Randy Hencke's smooth and subtle bass keeps Bow Junction on time and in tune. Each member takes a turn at singing lead and swapping banjo jokes.
